Rich followed up with his signature set of world-class (debatable) jokes:

- What do a tick and the Eiffel Tower have in common? They're both para-sites.
- What do you call a fish in a bowtie? SoFishticated.
- What do you call a factory that makes just OK products? A Sadis-factory.

Yes, folks, he really told these jokes. And yes, we still gave him conscience money.

Trivia Time!

Do you know your Easter traditions? Well, if you guessed Lily as the traditional Easter flower, you'd be wrong—it's actually the Daffodil! And for those wondering, a male rabbit is called a Buck (not to be confused with what Rich was collecting from members).

Speaker? What Speaker?

Our guest speaker was a no-show, having apparently entered the wrong date in his calendar. So instead, we went down memory lane with a spontaneous Spring Break storytelling session. Thanks to Emily Baxter for the idea! Members shared tales of youthful adventures—some fond, some embarrassing, and some we're pretty sure were exaggerated for dramatic effect. One of her fondest Spring Memories is the time when he son was a baby and took his first plane ride to Dallas. It was just Emily and her son traveling together for the first time. Other's talked about their trip to Florida. Todd Wahl talked about the infamous trip to Florida in his 1971 Dodge Dart. His parent's car motor went out so he was determined to go and they went in the Dart. Emily Baxter's memory was her first plan ride with her son who was an infant. They were headed to Dallas.

Next Meeting – April 9th

Mark your calendars! Our next meeting will feature Gelina Mascoe from the Haitian Center of Evansville. She will share insights into the center's work and mission—definitely one not to miss!

Stay optimistic, stay engaged, and we'll see you then!
