SERGEANT AT ARMS

Mike Burk stood in for Josh Paulson and collected conscience money. The half pot name drawn was Sean Kingston, but since he was not present, the pot will accumulate. Trivia questions were about MVP for the NHL (Alex Ovechkin) which was not named so the table paid. The second table correctly answered Kevin Durant for NBA MVP and kept their money.

The station moved into the current building at Two Main Street last fall. It is dual licensed for both tv and radio. It is a community licensed station and all funding comes from the community. The station began almost 50 years ago at the old McCutchanville School. The new location has a space for sound performances on the second floor and a new theater which seats 46 people for projection and computer presentations. WNIN will develop partnerships with Signature School and other high schools and colleges for students to intern. Most popular programs have been Masterpiece Theater and Antiques Road Show.
